There have been some changes in THE JOURNAL over the last several issues; we hope you like them. This quarter we have added Bits & Bytes, a column dealing with some of the latest "goings-on" in the computer world. Miss Ima G* Bugg is always ready to help, so send her your questions and helpful hints. And, don't forget those queries; you'll never know if you don't ask. Many of you have indicated on your membership forms that you have pedigree charts, family stories, and other information that can be used in THE JOURNAL. Please contact me about what you have so we can figure out the best way to prepare it for publication. Our quarterly tells the world who we are and what we are about, so let's all get involved!

THE PRESIDENT'S PAGE

Dear Friends,

Thank you to everyone that attended and worked to make the Seminar and Book Fair a success. Desmond Walls Allen gave the most informative workshop on Genealogical Writing. Learning is always fun and enlightening when Desmond is the presenter. I'm finally ready to retire my shoe box system (or lack of system) for research reports on each ancestor. Never pass up an opportunity to hear Desmond on any topic. The next chance in our area will be August 9th when she will be the speaker for Ark-La-Tex Genealogical Society. We have included a brochure to make it easier for you to register.

Due to so many Family Reunions planned for the fourth of July weekend we have canceled the July 5th meeting. I hope you will be able to visit with your families and further your research. LaJuana Goldsby will be speaking on beginning Genealogy at our August meeting, make plans to bring a friend interested in getting started right. In September Jane Newberry will speak on Greenwood Cemetery.

I am the GenWeb Hostess for Franklin Parish Louisiana Genealogy the page can be viewed at <http://www.prysm.net/~lhduffy/> if you would like to contribute to this project please contact me. If you have a query please include your address(snail-mail) if you are not on the internet. We will be including more information about the GenWeb and other research on the internet in future Journal's

Thank you for being a Friend of Genealogy.

Your Friend,

Laura Hair Duffy

RESEARCHING AT THE ALLEN COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

The genealogy collection of the Allen County Public Library, fondly known to genealogists as "Ft. Wayne," is one of the most extensive in the world.

Since the library is "closed shelf," the most important areas are the three catalogues:

1. The main card catalogue, which indexes every book by subject, title, and author
2. The Microtext Catalogue, which indexes the microfilm and fiche
3. PERSI, which indexes all periodicals

Check through the catalogues, fill in the little call slips that are found near all of the catalogues, and place them in an orange plastic tray in the main catalogue room. Call numbers will be found in the upper left hand corner of the cards.

The reference librarians welcome questions and are more than willing to help with problems. Do notify them if a requested book takes longer than a half hour to arrive.

A bank of computers offer the Social Security Death Index, a phone disk for the United States, General Land Office records, and the Automated Archives series plus the Family History Library catalogue and the Family File.

Several months ago, ACPL became the Family History Center for their area, thus making available all the microfilmed resources at Salt Lake City. The rules are the same as elsewhere: look up the number in the FHL catalogue (on computer or on fiche), place the order, return when it comes in to read it. Patrons may read any FHL film that is currently in the library.

Patrons are invited to bring their own laptop computers, scanners, or anything that will help them in their research. Each table has a set of electric plugs.

The hours of ACPL are: Monday-Thursday, 9 to 9: Friday and Saturday 9 to 6; Sunday 1 to 6. Their catalogue may be accessed by modem:

<http://www.acpl.lib.in.us/>

Please note, however, that only about 80% of the genealogy collection is in the computer catalogue.

The library, located at 900 Webster Street, may be contacted at: (219) 424-7241, ext. 3315.

ASK

Miss Ima G* Bugg

* Genealogy

Miss Ima G* Bugg, our own unique, lighthearted research associate, has agreed to try to answer our questions and give us some research clues. If you are confused and in need of help, drop her a line. If she can't help you, maybe some of our readers can. Send your questions/comments to: Miss Ima G* Bugg, Friends of Genealogy, Inc., P. O. Box 17835, Shreveport, LA 71138-0835.

Dear Ima G* Bugg: I'm a great fan of Desmond Walls Allen and I hear she's returning to Shreveport later this year. Can you give me the details?

Dear Fan: Yes! She's coming back August 9, 1997, to present "Arkansas Research," sponsored by the Ark-La-Tex Genealogical Society, Inc. Her topics include Research in Arkansas, Creative Problem Solving, and Map Resources for Genealogists. There's a registration form on page 53; if it's missing, just write to me in care of THE JOURNAL and I'll send you one. Also, you can call Mrs. Ethel Krause at (318) 746-3125 for further information.

Dear Ima G*: This computer age has left me in the dark ages! Now, it seems everyone is talking about the World Wide Web. Got any hints about how I can get "in the know?"

Dear Dark Ages: Welcome to the computer age. Most of us are a little backward when it comes to understanding computers, and the internet seems totally out of our grasp. But, there's help on the way. We've started a new column this quarter, Bits & Bytes. Look for it on page 80.

Dear Ima G* Bugg: I've been told that the regional archives branches of the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) may be closing soon. What now?

Dear Researcher: Calm down. According to John W. Carlin, Archivist of the United States, this is absolutely not true! NARA is in the midst of making many changes in the way it operates; under consideration is the possible consolidation or relocation of some of our regional archives. However, the microfilm collections heavily used by genealogists are to remain accessible in the locations where the records are now.

Dear Miss Bugg: Other than John Quincy Adams, I can't think of anyone having a middle name prior to the Revolutionary War. What caused this sudden popularity of middle names?

Dear Middle: English common law forbade commoners to have middle names. As we were under English common law until the Revolution, it was unusual for persons of British Isles origins in America to have middle names. However, the Germans brought a double or triple given-name custom with them as part of their cultural tradition from Europe. John Quincy Adams (born 1767) was the sixth President of the US and son of the second President. This shows where his parents stood on the matter of English rule; giving him a middle name was a small act of rebellion. (Ida Skarson McCormick, KYROOTS@LSV.UKY.EDU)

Dear Miss Ima G*: Many genealogical charts have a separate line for the death date and location and the burial date and location. Seems like a lot of double work to me.

Dear Double Worked: Not really, if you think about it. Many times, people went to live with relatives in another area and, upon their deaths, were returned to their home towns for burial. You need the place of death to obtain the death certificate, which usually will provide funeral home and burial information. The place of burial will help you locate many more records relating to their lives and also help you locate possible descendants.

Dear Miss Bugg: Several of my ancestors were born in Virginia, but I cannot seem to find any information about them. Can you help?

Dear Virginia: Perhaps. Any person born in Virginia as early as 1728 or as late as 1863 could indicate that this person was really born in another of today's states. Each of the states listed below were a part of Virginia until their own statehood was declared: (Good Luck)

Illinois, from 1781 until 1818

Indiana, from 1786 until 1816

Kentucky, from 1775 until 1792

Maryland, from 1775 until 1792

North Carolina, from 1728 until 1779

Ohio, from 1778 until 1803

Pennsylvania, from 1752 until 1786

Tennessee, from 1760 until 1763

West Virginia, from 1769 until 1816

Dear Miss Bugg: What were the "Juries of Matrons"?

Dear Matron: The first female jurors used in this country were the "Juries of Matrons" used in witchcraft proceedings to inspect the alleged witch's body for suspicious signs or marks. (East Ascension Genealogical & Historical Society Newsletter, Feb, 1996)

April 2, 1862 Camp Wigfall

My Dear Sister,

I have just received your welcome letter in which you state that Galveston is not to be abandoned, which I am very glad to hear. We left Camp Quantico on the 8th of March and arrived at this camp on the 12th, which is one mile from the City of Fredricksburg on the west bank of the Reppehanook River. The whole army of the Potomac has fallen back in order to make a better stand. The lines which we formerly occupied were thirty miles from any railroad and all provisions had to be transported by wagons. During the winter the roads became so bad that it was impossible for them to bring enough provisions for so large an army and we many a time had to go on half rations, but for all that we were all happy and contented.

Three days after we left our camp the Yankees came over the river in large numbers, but they did not remain any length of time. We have 17 men out scouting from this Regiment. They bring in some Yankees every day. They have already taken 17. A few days ago five of our scouts went into their lines and were surrounded by 400 cavalry. Three of them escaped and the other two were tied and carried off. If they kill those two we will kill those 17 for retaliation. When we were in winter quarters, Tom Blessing in our company had some ??? fixings sent to him and he went to work taking pictures. We had a picture taken of the mess. You can see it by calling on Mr. Waters or F. Hitchcock. Either of them will let you have one to take a copy of if you want it.

The Settle boys send best respects to you. Mrs. McKeon is in Richmond. She is well. We are very well satisfied with Capt. McKeon. They keep us very strict and drill us hard. I expect we will leave here before long and go into active service. I thank Lula very kindly for the valentine. I am very glad to see young folks with old notions. While writing I received your letter dated March the 12th in which you state that the people feel awful about the enemy getting the upper hand of us. It is very true we have had some very sad reverses lately, but for all that we do not feel the advantage of bringing on over-powering army and navy upon us, which we could not resist. We can whip them every day if they come on equal footing.

I am glad to hear that Texas turns out so many men. Remember me to all my friends. Myself and Charles are both well.

Your affectionate brother, William

Dear Sister,

Since William wrote the above we had another march in pursuit of the Yankees at Stafford Court House, but when we got within 2 miles of them they broke and ran in Bull Run style. We got back here yesterday all well.

Enclose please find a draft on Dr. I. L. McKeen for $10.00 from me and William. I will soon write you again. Your truly affectionate brother, Charles, in haste.

Dear Sister,

I take this present and only opportunity I have had to write to you and inform you of the death of dear brother Charley, who fell gallantly fighting for our glorious cause on the 7th of this month. Dear Sister, I have been so oppressed by grief at the loss of our only and dear brother that I could not nerve myself to write you the intelligence of his death any sooner, but thank God he has nerved me with the spirit of revenge and woe be to the hated Yankee foe that ever I meet. Dear Sister, I pray to God to nerve you in this hour of our affliction and trouble as he is the only one to comfort us in our hardest trials. Dear Sister, do try and pray to God that he may give you courage to stand the blow that has fallen so suddenly upon you, as God is the only one we can put our trust in. He is the only comfort that we can receive. Dear Sister, Charley was decently and respectfully buried. He was laid under a large apple tree and his name and age and also the cause he fell under inscribed upon the tree. Dear Sister, we attacked the enemy and drove them in confusion before us. We killed and wounded 300 and took some prisoners. Our loss was 15 killed and 23 wounded. The loss to our company was Charley and Joe Brown killed and 3 wounded. Charley was shot in the head and instantly killed. The fight was near Williamsburg and called the Battle of West Point. Dear Sister, I received your welcome letter by Lieutenant Bedell. Goodby dear sister. I am well and will write soon again. Trust in God and you will be alright. Your affectionate brother, William

Dear Sister,

I have just received your welcome letter of the 18 of May and hasten to answer. Since the death of our dear brother Charley I have written you four or five letters.

In one of them I enclosed 20 dollars which I hope you will receive. I have received no answer to any of them as of yet. Dear sister, I am enjoying good health and hoping to see you before long. Dear sister, I have been in three battles and thank God I have always come out unhurt. The first was at West Point in which dear Charley was killed, the second was at Seven Pines before Richmond, the third was at Gaines Mill or Cold Harbor, in which McClellan was badly defeated and compelled to retreat under the cover of his gunboats, where he now remains. The fight lasted six days. We captured a large supply of army stores and provisions, besides 104 cannon and 8,000 prisoners. They left all their sick, dead and wounded in our possession. McClellan's loss is estimated at least from 35 to 40 thousand. They burnt a great amount of goods to prevent us from getting them. This last fight has caused a great excitement in the North. The following is a list of the killed and wounded in our company: Pufraw killed, Townsend killed, George Hawkins wounded in the hand, H. Shultz wounded in the arm, Iakoolef wounded in the head, Swarting wounded in the head, Capt. Bedell wounded in the leg and hand, Millard wounded in the arm.

Ham and Charley Settle send kindest regards to you. They are both well. George Delesandri was killed in the last fight, also Cut Clute. The loss of our regiment is 107 men. Please give my kind regards to Mrs. Crane and family and all those who inquire for me. Please write soon, I remain
Your affectionate brother, William Schadt

Dear Sister,

I take this present opportunity to let you know that I am well and hope that these few lines will find you the same. Mr. Chas. Sorley has been in camp and the boys were all glad to see him and hear from home. We have very easy times now. We have nothing to do but drill twice a day and that early in the morning and late in the evening on account of the weather being so hot. It is just as hot here as in Texas. Fruit is plentiful, but no watermelons, which I think are better than all the fruit. We do not expect any fight for some time. There is a great deal of sickness in the Yankee army. Our army is in good health and spirits. The Yankees have got sick and tired of fighting. They begin to see that it is no use to try to conquer the south. The Settle boys are well and send their kind regards to you. Capt. Bedell has recovered from his wounds and is now with the company. All the balance of the wounded are getting along very well. A good many of them have taken furloughs to go to South Carolina and Georgia. Please give my best respects to all the folks. Please write soon. I remain your affectionate brother,
William

Sept. 23, 1862 Camp near Martinsburg, Va.

Dear Sister,

I have received your welcome letters of the 6th and 22nd of July. I was very glad to hear that you are well. I am in good health and fine spirits and I hope these few lines will find you the same. Since my last letter we have been in two battles, one was fought on the Old Manassas battleground and the other at Sharpsburg in Maryland. We went into Maryland and captured several cities and destroyed all the railroad bridges and canals within our reach and then captured Harpers Ferry and 8,000 prisoners and millions of dollars worth of property, besides 5,000 negroes which they had stolen from citizens. In the battle of Manassas our loss was slight, only 4 wounded, but in the last fight our loss was very heavy. We had 3 killed and 18 wounded. List of the killed is as follows: Lieut. I.C.T. Thompson, I. Frank and W. Zimer. The Settle boys are well. They told me they had a letter from home saying you were well and going back to Galveston. It is no use for me to state the particulars about the fight, for Chas. Vidor has sent a letter giving a full account which will be published.

Dear Sister, please give my best respects to all. Write soon.

Your affectionate brother, William.

My Dear Sister,

I take this present opportunity to write you these few lines to let you know that I am well and hoping these few lines will find you the same. I have just received your welcome letter dated October 16 in which you speak about me not getting a furlough. It is not so easy done as you might suppose as they only grant furloughs to those that are sick or wounded. Lee Thompson and Mr. Rogers were both sick at Richmond when they got their furloughs and I did not know anything about their going to Texas. You speak about sending me a bundle of clothes for which I will be very thankful to you for the weather is getting very cold. We have had several snow storms. We have just received a suit of winter clothes from the government. I hear that Galveston is in the hands of the Yankees. I hope they will not let them get on the mainland. John Delesandri, who got wounded at Manassas has since died of his wounds. All of our boys that were wounded at Sharpsburg and fell into the hands of the Yankees are getting exchanged as fast as they can bear transportation. I hear that John Hanson and Austin Jones are going to Texas on a furlough. We have just received a letter from Capt. Bedell. He was wounded in the cheek and in the shoulder. He is now in Fort Delaware. He says as soon as he gets exchanged he will get a furlough. The boys all say that the Yankees treated them very kindly. Ham and Charley Settle are both well and send their kindest regards. Please give my kind regards to Mrs. Crane and family and all my friends. Write Soon. I remain, your affectionate brother, William

Dear Sister,

I take this present opportunity to let you know that I am well and hope these few lines will find you the same. I have received your two letters dated 18 November and 1st December. I will send this letter by William Young, who is going home on furlough. We have had a large fight here and whipped the Yankees badly. We repulsed the Yankees nine times with very heavy loss. Our loss was very light. The battle lasted five days. On the night of the 16th the Yankees recrossed the river where they now remain. Our company did not lose a man. All the boys are well and hearty. The Settle boys are well. Ham is in Richmond and Charley is with his regiment. I have not received the bundle of clothes yet, but I hope I soon will. The weather is very cold and I hope we will go into winter quarters soon. I must close now. It is getting too cold. I will write soon. Give my regards to all.
I remain your affectionate brother, William

TRIBUTE TO MY ANCESTORS

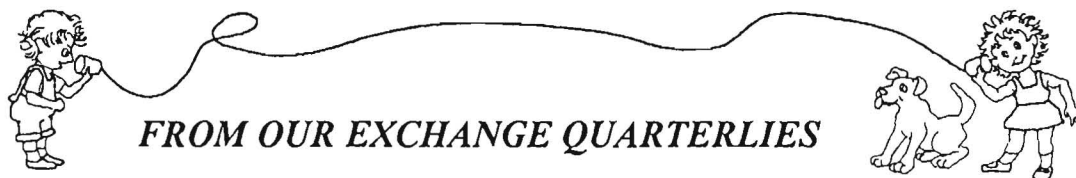

*I want to know you all by name,
And when and where you lived.
It matters not if you won fame;
Because of you, I live.*

*The dreams you cherished in your heart
Are alive and well in mine.
Years that divide cannot pull apart
That bond untouched by time.*

*Your blood flows in my veins,
Your spirit keeps me strong;
Your gift to me, with your name,
So I know where I belong.*

BITS & BYTES

What is the World Wide Web?

The Internet is a global network of computers, all connected together. It communicates using a common language. It's similar to the international telephone system -- no one owns or controls the whole thing, but it is connected in a way that makes it work like one big network.

The World Wide Web (the web or WWW) gives you a graphical, easy-to-navigate interface for looking at documents on the Internet. These documents, as well as the links between them, comprise a "web" of information.

You can think of the World Wide Web as a big library on the Internet. Web "sites" are like the books in the library and web "pages" are like specific pages in the books. A collection of web pages is known as a web site. You start your journey through the web from a particular web site. The web lets you jump or "hyperlink" from one web page to other pages on the web. You can think of the web as a big library. Pages can contain news, images, movies, sounds, 3D worlds -- just about anything. These pages can be located on computers anywhere in the world. When you are connected to the web, you have equal access to information worldwide; there are no additional long-distance charges or restrictions.

A "home page" is the starting point for a web site. It is something like the cover page or the Table of Contents of a book.

Each web page, including a web site's home page, has a unique address called a Universal Resource Locator (URL). Most of this information was taken from a page of Microsoft's web site with the URL address of:

<http://www.msn.com/tutorial/surfing1.html>

A "browser" is a software tool that you use to look at web pages. Most commercial internet providers, like Prodigy, have a browser incorporated into their software. These providers charge a fee usually by the hour or a flat rate for unlimited service. At Microsoft's web site you can download Microsoft Internet Explorer for free. It can be used in place of the browser that comes with your internet service. Netscape Navigator is another browser that is popular and can be purchased at any software retailer.

Pages on the web are interconnected. You connect to other pages by clicking text or graphics that are called hyperlinks. Hyperlinks are usually underlined or bordered words and graphics that have web addresses (also known as a URL -- Universal Resource Locator) embedded in them. When you move the mouse pointer to a hyperlink you will see an address pop up somewhere on your browser's window. By clicking a hyperlink, you jump to a particular page in a particular web site. You can easily identify a hyperlink. Hyperlink text is a different color from the rest of the text in a web site. Graphics can also be hyperlinks. All you do is simply point to the hyperlink word or graphics, click the mouse button and off you go to another web page.

The World Wide Web is changing the way people communicate all over the globe. This new global medium is gaining popular acceptance faster than any other communications medium in history. Over the last two years, the web has grown to include a vast array of information -- everything from stock quotes to job opportunities, bulletin boards to news, previews of movies, literary reviews, genealogy information and games. The type of information ranges from the most obscure to the most globally important. People often talk about "surfing" the web and visiting new sites. "Surfing" means following hyperlinks to pages and subjects you may never have heard about, meeting new people, visiting new places, and learning about things from all over the world.

Remember, the Internet is not just about corporate information. Because it is very easy to publish on the web, many individuals have set up personal "home pages," pages about themselves and their interests, pictures of themselves, and more. We'll talk about many web sites of genealogy interest in future articles.

Have fun surfing the web and learning about subjects you are interested in while visiting new sites all over the world.

Elvis Presley: A Southerner's Ancestry

For someone about whom so much has been written, Elvis Presley's genealogical heritage remains rather murky. Much of this ahnentafel chart had to be pieced together from (often conflicting) bits of information found in several different popular biographies of Elvis.

We are indebted to Edwin C. Dunn of Albuquerque, NM, for information on the Presley line itself. It differs at some points from the Presley lineage as presented by other writers. Mr. Dunn seems to have done the best work on the subject, and so we have adopted his version of the Presley descent.

Mr. Dunn's major contribution has been to show persuasively that Elvis Presley is descended not from an Irish immigrant named Pressly (or Pressley) as everyone had concluded, but from a German immigrant named John Valentine Pressler who was born in 1669. John Valentine Pressler is the grandfather (through his son Andries Preslar/Presley) of the Andrew Presley, Jr. shown in Generation 9 of this chart. (He has also been able to discover links that make Elvis a cousin to Jimmy Carter and Jesse Helms.)

Note that the Presley name was carried to Elvis by his great-grandmother, Rosella Presley. Rosella never married, nor did she ever reveal the name of the father of any of her children.

Note also that Elvis's grandparents, Robert Lee Smith and Octavia Lavinia Mansell, were first cousins. This accounts for the duplication of names higher up (that is, earlier) in the chart.

One Elvis ancestor, Morning Dove White, was a Cherokee Indian. There is reportedly an Elvis biographer who tries to make the case that the King inherited his looks and his musical ability from her.
