PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

A special "thank you" to one of our members, Mrs. Fern Christensen, who agreed, when asked on rather short notice, to present the program for our June meeting. Her lecture, called "Tracing Back East", was on sources of genealogical material in the eastern states, and was most informative.

Also at the June meeting, Col. & Mrs. W. T. Leeper presented the Association with a handsome hand-made podium, something we have needed for a long time. It adds a special touch to our meetings, and makes things easier for our guest speakers. Thanks, Col. & Mrs. Leeper, for this useful gift.

Our eighth annual workshop is drawing ever closer. Our speaker, Mr. Richard S. Lackey, has impressive credentials, and we are looking forward to a most enjoyable and beneficial workshop. We are also planning a Pre-Workshop Dinner Party for all attendees and guests, to let us get acquainted with each other and to meet Mr. Lackey. We anticipate a good attendance. I feel sure every member will do his or her best to promote and publicize this workshop. We hope to make it the biggest and best ever. Come and join us!

In assuming my duties as your president during the peak of my business season, I have had to call on many members for a great deal of assistance. In every case I have received splendid cooperation, and I would like to take this opportunity to say thank you.

M L "Pete" Nance

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

This issue is our first effort as your new editor. It is a source of real pride to be associated with such a widely-known and respected publication as THE GENIE; with your help we hope to continue it as a highly accurate and useful research tool. We invite your comments, suggestions, and criticism. We especially solicit material for publication. We're sure many of us have had an item or two in mind for some time to submit to THE GENIE - now is the time to send it in! It need not be any particular format and need not be typed - we'll take care of that. We have had several requests recently for more material on southern Arkansas. Surely some of our members must have access to unpublished Arkansas material. Won't you please share it?

We'd like to make special mention of two very extraordinary members who have done more for our group than we can ever repay: Mrs. Ema Lee Tipton and Mrs. Annie Garland Parker. Mrs. Tipton, as you know, did a magnificent job as editor of THE GENIE from 1970 through 1973, and Mrs. Parker has contributed enough extremely valuable material over the years to fill several volumes of THE GENIE. At this writing, Mrs. Tipton is again hospitalized with a very painful form of arthritis, and Mrs. Parker is scheduled for a serious eye operation in the near future. We feel sure all members of the Association join us in expressing our deepest thanks to these wonderful ladies, and our heartfelt prayers for their improved health.

We look forward to a long and pleasant relationship with THE GENIE and the members of the Association. We hope to meet you - all of you - at our forthcoming eighth annual workshop, August 10th, in Bossier City.

GORDON WALLACE SMITH, JR.
Editor, THE GENIE

Mrs. Parker added the following as a further aid to researchers. She used the Bible and other records from the Calvit family, in addition to the census records and history available in Natchitoches Parish.

Mr. Delroi (Del/wah) was granted land (Spanish). He and Cosey Taw were the parents of Desera, who married a McGlothlin and had two sons, Mitchell and William.

Mitchell died during the Civil War with Flux, and was buried under a Magnolia tree, near the site of the Zimmerman mill, and marked with a large iron cross. When the road was moved back from a caving river and a railroad, the grave was dug into and moved. The cross was carted away as there was only one grave at this place. Some signs of the old fort are still there. The only two people that knew of this are near death at this time. One lived to show me where the cross was.

William McGlothlin was with the troops that were captured on Henderson Hill. You will find his grave marked with a C.S.A.

In the 1830 census of Natchitoches Parish you will find the name Delroi is spelled Delrear. Mr. Delroi was dead and Cosay living on the (now) Cane River.

Mr. William Wise was from Ireland - we find him here as head of a crew digging a ditch from old Grubb Lake into Castor Bayou in the 1840s. The family said he met and married Desera while digging this ditch. He never got on any of the census records, and after the birth of three daughters he returned to Ireland. In 1880 census of Rapides Parish: No. 733-756 Wise, Desire -- F 62 -- Widow -- La. - Canada - La. Cosey's parents came to Louisiana from Canada.

Desera died after the 1880 census as shown here, but it seems William McGlothlin's was the first grave to be put in this cemetery. Desera's grave was marked with Cedar trees and a field stone with Wise scratched on it. The grave has recently been marked with a very nice marker and the name on the marker will be found here as: Desire Derouen McLaughlin Wise - Born 1820.

THE JESSE AND EMILY SMITH STORY

Submitted by R.S. (Jack) Perryman

This story was written for the descendants of Jesse and Emily Smith, early settlers of Louisiana. It was copied from material collected by Nona Smith Levins, their youngest daughter, who had great interest and justifiable pride in her ancestral heritage and exemplified, in her own life, many of the admirable character traits which her parents possessed.

This account was written by Mattie Levins, daughter of Nona Smith Levins, upon the fiftieth anniversary of the Smith Reunion, August 1954. This meeting of the descendants has been an annual occurrence at the old Smith home in Mt. Lebanon since 1904. Perhaps other Smith relatives will write the history of their own families, thus adding many other recorded chapters to the grand one of Jesse and Emily Smith.

NB: Jesse and Emily Smith were Jack Perryman's great grandparents - Ed.

October 1848 was an exciting time in the household of Jesse and Emily Smith of Houston County, Georgia, for they and their six children: Sarah, Mary, Robert, Ellen, Martha and Morgan, were moving from their Okmulgee River plantation, near Macon, to a more healthy location in far-away Louisiana. It would be, at least, a two-month wagon-caravan journey but Jesse Smith had made a recent prospecting visit to this region of "many springs and fertile land", and the anticipation of an interesting life in this beautiful state counteracted some of the discomforts and hazards of the trip westward.

The travelers were welcomed at Mt. Lebanon, Louisiana, by fine men: Dr. Jasper Gibbs, Tandy and William Key, Martin Canfield, and others whom Jesse Smith had met when he visited this twelve year old Bienville Parish settlement in 1847. They then went on to their own farm on Black Lake, five miles west of Mt. Lebanon, where crowded years followed for the Smith family. Seven more children were born: Anne Dean, Georgia, Jessie, Bryan, Risdon, Emily Antionette, and Nona. (of the fifteen Smith children, twelve lived to adulthood.) More land was added which produced not only food for the large family, the ten orphaned children of friends and relatives, and the fifty slaves, but grew, also, great quantities of the then agricultural king, Cotton. Clothweaving, leather tanning, and other industries necessary for daily living in a land where there was no railroad and few factories, were engaged in by the family. Sparta, Louisiana, ten miles away, was the parish seat. There was a Methodist church there, which the Smiths attended. A governess taught the younger children, the older girls were sent back to Georgia to school, others went to Mansfield College and the oldest son attended Centenary College at Jackson, and also Homer, Louisiana. There was a school at Mt. Lebanon, also a Baptist church which this family could attend. They lived the life of a typical, prosperous family in the South during pre-Civil War days. Certainly, it was not an easy one for the two adults responsible for the welfare of so many people, both black and white, but it was a full, worthwhile life and they lived it nobly.

Probably neither Jesse Smith nor his wife felt that the years between 1848 and 1860 were unduly strenuous ones in a physical way. Both had the blood of pioneer people in their veins. The Smiths had migrated to Virginia in 1689 from Ireland. Some members served in the Revolutionary War. William Smith and his wife, Nancy Ann Dean, moved to Georgia where their son, Jesse, was born in 1807, the third of fourteen children. Jesse fought in the Indian Wars and attained the rank of captain. He married seventeen-year-old Emily Antionette Bryan, daughter of Joseph Bryan and Mary (Polly) Walker in 1836. She was of English descent, tracing her ancestry back to the Earl of Munster. Her ancestors settled in North Carolina, 1722. Some served in the Revolutionary War. Later, the Bryans moved to Houston County, Georgia, where Emily was born in 1819. She could not have had much formal education but was a person of keen intelligence and versatility as her life proved. Jesse and Emily Smith were devout Methodists. Their children were baptized in this faith.

Jesse Smith did not endorse the secession of the Southern States from the Union over the slavery issue, but when they did secede, he contributed whole-heartedly to the Confederate cause.

Those were heart-breaking years for the Smith family, as well as for the entire population of the South. Robert Smith, truly the pride of his parents' hearts, such a promising, well-educated man, early volunteered with the Minden Blues Company and was wounded severely at the Battle of Gettysburg. Numbers of women and children, relatives, came to live at the Smith home while their husbands and fathers fought in the war. There is no account of the Union Army stragglers robbing this plantation as they did so many others, but the guns from the Battle of Mansfield were plainly heard there. Later, the women handed food to the long columns of weary Confederate foot-soldiers who passed the farm.

Jesse Smith died of pneumonia in 1862, contracted while making salt on Lake Bistineau, leaving his wife, Emily, the herculean task of guiding her family through the remaining years of the Civil War and the chaotic Reconstruction period. What a person she must have been, for they came through those dreary years in a creditable way! The slaves were freed in 1865. War-disabled, Robert attempted to cultivate the great tracts of land with hired labor, but the carpetbag government had demoralized the Negroes, making this very difficult. Much of the Smith property reverted to the state for taxes.

In May 1866, a hailstorm destroyed practically all of the Smith's stock and many farm buildings, which made it necessary for Mrs. Smith and the younger children to move to Mt. Lebanon, where she could earn something by taking boarders, students who were attending a Baptist female school there. The Smith sons remained on the farm until the main house burned in 1872. The farm was sold in 1874.

Mrs. Smith established the Smith House in Mt. Lebanon in 1869, where she fed and slept the traveling public. The stagecoach line from Monroe to Shreveport passed her house and used it to change drivers, passengers and horses. (Mrs. Letha Levins Courtney, daughter of Nona Smith Levins, occupies the house at the present time, 1954.) Here she lived until her death in 1891 and is buried in the Mt. Lebanon Cemetery beside her husband and among many relatives. She was truly a grand figure all her life long, triumphing in commendable fashion over a host of adverse circumstances and making her memory one to be revered by her descendants.

This incident reflects her philosophy and pride in her name: She was once introduced to a pompous braggart fellow who spoke her, "Mrs. Smith" in a condescending manner and added these rude remarks, "Smith, now, that's a mighty common name. In fact, it is quite familiar to me. My own name was once Smith, but there are so many sorry, trashy people in the world named Smith, I just changed my name to something else." The aristocratic lady flashed back with this deserved squelch, "Well, Sir, you certainly must have been one of the trashy Smiths, for I never knew a fine character who was ashamed of his name."

In 1954, there are well over a hundred living descendants of Jesse and Emily Smith; Bryan, the last living son, passed away in 1950. Mrs.

Sallie Phillips Hamilton, daughter of Sarah Smith Phillips, is the oldest living grand-daughter. She is now ninety-four years of age and lives in California. She and her husband were Methodist missionaries to Brazil for many years. Mrs. Bessie Browder Kelly, Shreveport, Louisiana, was the first great-great-granddaughter. Her children have begun another generation. And so it is, many different names are being added yearly to the original family one, SMITH. Each person has the wealthy distinction of being the heirs of a wonderful couple.

A MYSTERY SOLVED

The following item appeared in THE GENIE, January 1972:

ABANDONED BURIAL GROUNDS IN BOWIE COUNTY, TEXAS
Near Banks of Red River, 10 Miles North of Hooks, Texas

Submitted by Mrs. Woodrow Wilburn
Rt. 3, Box 239-A, Texarkana, Texas 75501

Can anyone identify this old burial ground? There is only one marker remaining, but 40 years ago there were at least two others. Several sunken graves are visible now. Woodrow Wilburn discovered this graveyard when he was hunting here in the 1930s, and we have a photo of this marker. It is located on property now owned by Ohlen Canfield. The tombstone is in fine condition, of white marble, about three feet tall, inscribed:

JANE
Wife of S. COOPER
Born 1846
Died
August 6, 1887
"Thou art gone, but not forgotten"

Mrs. Wilburn has since heard from Mr. Homer Elliott of Crows Landing, Calif., who supplied her with the following information from his great-grandmother's diary:

SAM COOPER, JR., was born 31 Dec 1839 in Belton, Texas. His dad moved the family to Red River Territory (Bowie Co.) in 1855. Sam, Jr., married JANE BOLANDER, 16 years old, in Bartlet, Texas, on May 3, 1862. They had two children: a son JIM, born 9 Feb 1865, and a daughter JEWELL, born 12 Jun 1867, place not mentioned. In 1868, they went back to Red River in Bowie Co. In 1884, she and her husband and children were back in Bell Co., Texas. She died 6 Aug 1887 and was buried in this old RED RIVER CEMETERY (as it is called in the diary). Jane's stone was purchased through Ft. Smith, Arkansas, in 1888. It is also thought that Sam, Jr., is buried beside her, as well as his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cooper, Sr.

Sam, Jr., died after 1914. Mr. Elliott wrote that he visited the grave in 1914, when 5 stones were visible with 3 or 4 boards for markers, one not over a year old.

CAMPBELL CREEK CEMETERY

Copied by Sadie Knight Jowers, May 1973, with introductory notes by Mrs. Annie Garland Parker.

Note: I find a William Campbell living on this creek in an early census record. The story is told that he only camped there for awhile, and the Indians called it Campbell Creek. The cemetery is on a high hill, not too far from the Natchitoches Parish line and Sunk Hill. In this vicinity the petrified Palm wood was found. A.G.P.

The three large Cedar trees in a row are at the head of the first graves put in this cemetery.

DRUCILLA (ZUDIE) HOLLAND, about three years of age.

Dau of Mary Jane Hobson and Jim Holland

LEAH HOLLAND, about 16 years of age.

Dau of Mattie Strickland and Heron Holland

ELLA SPEARS, buried there about 1891

Three other graves:

JIM WARD, who married Rosa Beebe

After his death, she married Charles Rice

KIN MARTIN, or Tine, a small boy

EVELYNLINE WARD, wife of Columbus Beebe

All of these old graves in the shade of the Cedar trees as given by some of the older settlers, most of whom have passed away.

HILL CEMETERY

Recorded by Annie Garland Parker, Boyce, Louisiana, June 1973.

This cemetery is located near where Odom and Campbell Creeks join. The road from Campbell Creek Cemetery leads down to this plot. Odom Creek was named for that family. Indians just called the other "Campbell Creek" to the later settlers, but I find in an early census record William Campbell living there. Creek names were always taken from a settler, and I knew this. A.G.P.

There are fourteen graves in the Hill Cemetery. Only one marked as to date:

WILLIE SMITH, son of Kate Hill and Liss Smith, who was killed in World War I

The other graves, as listed by members of the family, are:

FIELDING SMITH

Two young HILL boys

HENRY HILL

LISS SMITH

GUY SMITH

ADDIE SMITH

MACK (A. M.) CROWDER

AMANDA PHILLIPS CROWDER, wife of Mack Crowder

FLORENCE CROWDER WALKER, dau of Amanda Phillips and Mack Crowder wife of Joseph Walker

KATE HILL SMITH

REUBEN McCULLOUGH

Infant of Ada Smith and Gus Killen

NEW IDEA FOR GENEALOGISTS

The International Organization for Standardization has agreed on a new way of writing dates. The United States was one of twenty-five countries to adopt the recommendation. To many Americans, 7-4-74 may indicate July 4, 1974; to others 7 April 1974. The adopted form is written: 74-7-4 which translates to 1974 July 4. Slash marks are not used.

THE GENIE foresees continued confusion in genealogical records, past, present, and future, with the use of but two digits to indicate the year, because those who follow us may not have the time to wonder if we really meant 1974 or 1774, or some other century. We are not too far removed from 2074, when measured by a generation or two!

THE GENIE doesn't disagree with the recommendation per se, but sees a need for an appropriate variation to promote accuracy in genealogical research. Using standardized abbreviations for the months: Jan, Feb, Mar, Apr, May, Jun, Jul, Aug, Sep, Oct, Nov, Dec, with no period except at the end of a sentence, we suggest the following variation: the year in four digits, month, and day, i.e. 1974 Jul 4.

We wish to encourage the use of this "new idea for genealogists" so that everyone will become accustomed to the IOS method which will, no doubt, become part of our future along with the Metric System. We will use our variation in our query column, Information Please, and eventually throughout THE GENIE.

BOOK REVIEWS

by Elizabeth Nance

SCOTTISH BURG AND COUNTY HERALDRY by R. U. Urquhart deals with Scottish social history based on files, local histories and newspapers, and provides a record of Scottish tradition. Contains the development of the Burg system and the counties, especially their heraldic achievements.

In the third section, the recorded arms of the individual Burgs and County Councils are described and illustrated. The illustrations were especially drawn for the book by Mary Gordon, the Herald painter to the Lyon Court. Publisher is Gale Research Company, Book Tower, Detroit, Mich. 48226. Price $28.50 for this 10" x 7½" hardback, 274 pages.

GORDON KINSHIP by Nancy S. McBride is a well-written book with a beautiful plaid jacket. The Gordon family is traced from ancient France through medieval Scotland to Colonial American Virginia. It carries the lines of all who married into the family: Norman, Celtic, Gaelic, and Viking. Allied families are: Forbes, Keith, Frazier, Innes, Maitland, Rutherford, Campbell, Wallace, Stuart, Lindsay, Douglas, Comyn, Hayes, and Greenway in Scotland and Ireland.

The immigrant, Col. James Gordon, came to Virginia and married Milicent Conway, daughter of Col. Edwin Conway and Anna Ball. There are Bible records and the will of Col. James Gordon. There are pictures and maps as well as family charts.

Order from the publisher, McClure Press, P.O. Box 3, White Marsh, Va. 23183. Price $15.00. This is a hardback, size 10" x 7½", 444 pages, and contains a table of contents, list of illustrations and Scottish sectional map.

CURIOSITIES OF PURITAN NOMENCLATURE by Charles Wareing Bardsley is a reprint of the London 1897 edition. Order from the publisher, Gale Research Company, Book Tower, Detroit, Michigan 48226 for $10.00. This 252 page hardback has chapters on The Pet-Name Epoch in England, The Hebrew Invasion, Puritan Eccentricities and Double Christian Names. Indexed.

LUCINDA'S LOVE STORY by Edith H. Sanderson. Our thanks to Mrs. Sanderson, 411 East 6th Street, Northfield, Minnesota 55057 for the copy of her book, Lucinda's Love Story. Lucinda Trowbridge, born 10 Apr 1782, married Thomas Fiske, a deaf mute, 9 Feb 1806, despite objections from some of her family and friends. Four children were born and raised by this loving and remarkable couple. Letters between the two families, as well as some between Lucinda and Thomas, tell of their love story, and of their long and interesting life together. This small paper-backed book contains many family pictures and a page from the register of the School for the Deaf in Hartford, Connecticut, where Thomas enrolled in 1825. A limited edition which may be obtained from the author for $2.00.

OLD PATHS AND LEGENDS OF NEW ENGLAND by Katharine M. Abbott may be ordered from the publisher, Gale Research Company, Book Tower, Detroit, Mich. 48226 for $13.50. This 8 3/4" x 5 3/4" hardcover book has 484 pages, footnotes, a list of illustrations and is conveniently indexed by person and place name. Originally printed in 1903, this book contains fact and fancy of existing and non-existing cities, towns and villages in Rhode Island, Massachusetts, and New Hampshire from the early 1600s. Arranged by towns and villages, each chapter tells who lived where, when and who owned the property at the time of writing. Each chapter also contains a guide to local historical landmarks and homes. It is an excellent turn of the century stepping stone to the past.

OLD PATHS AND LEGENDS OF THE NEW ENGLAND BORDER by Katharine M. Abbott is an 8 3/4" x 5 3/4" hardcover book of 408 pages plus illustrations which are listed, footnotes and an index. The book, originally printed in 1907, is a companion to OLD PATHS AND LEGENDS OF NEW ENGLAND. It gives the history of the people by towns and covers Connecticut, the inland section of Massachusetts and the Berkshires of New York. It contains much Indian lore and tales of the captives during the French and Indian War. If you've lost an ancestor on the coast he might be picked up here, in Canada, or one of the Indian tribes. A special feature of this book is its tourist guide to the historical landmarks and points of interest in each area covered. Order from Gale Research Company, Book Tower, Detroit, Mich. 48226 for $13.50.

A PARTIAL RECORD OF THE JOHN FORD FAMILY of Marion County, Mississippi, compiled by Irene Ford Webb, 1973. Marion County Historical Society is the owner of the John Ford Home near Sandy Hook, Mississippi. This paperbacked book is about the children of the Rev. John Ford and Catherine Ard Ford.

Three Ford brothers, James, John, and Stephen were from England and landed at Georgetown, S.C., before 1699. Many families are brought into this story: Bronson, Townsend, Durham, Harper, Ervin, Hamilton, Nicholson and others. If you have any information on descendants of the John Ford family, please mail to Mrs. Irene F. Webb, 911 High School Av., Columbia, Miss. 39429.

THE McCLENDONS by T. A. McClendon. This well-written hardback, 8 1/2" x 5 1/2", contains 418 pages of family history of MacLennan, MacLenden, McClendon, and McLendons. Primarily, the author covers thirteen generations of Samuel McClendon, Jr. and his wife, Mary Cook. They are descended from John McLennon of Scotland. Many pictures and the Coat of Arms are included. Order from the author, 3301 Pacific Avenue, Stockton, California 95204 for $11.00.
