THE GENIE is published quarterly. Each member receives four issues for each year of membership. All material published in THE GENIE is compiled and contributed by the members. THE GENIE exchanges periodicals with other genealogical-historical organizations publishing data of general interest. We regret that we cannot exchange with limited family organizations, but invite them to send samples of their publications for brief review, since many of these family organizations are of great value in information on the family covered by them.

All members of the staff of THE GENIE are volunteers:

PRESIDENT'S PAGE

Dear Members and Friends:

I was happy to learn that Dr. George Schweitzer was speaking in Fort Worth this April. I had never heard Dr. Schweitzer, and I thought that the Fort Worth Genealogical Society's seminar would be a great chance to preview the Ark-La-Tex Association's August seminar. Victor and Vernelle Rose and Marguerite Loftin said that they planned to attend the show in Fort Worth. Dr. Schweitzer's topics were all subjects that interested me in my research. I knew that I could not miss it.

Dr. Schweitzer put on a great show. He spoke on Missouri research in frontier garb and wore buckskins and coonskin cap to speak of Tennessee. His soldier's uniform from the War of 1812 was very dramatic. The history he spoke of was his own experience. The information sources and research techniques that he discussed may help me solve my mysteries. I have new hope of finding records my family may have left in connection with the War of 1812 service. Dr. Schweitzer emphasized that these records often bridge the gap between the Revolution and later periods. The information, the entertainment and the wonderful company made for a really memorable day.

We are all very excited about having Dr. George Schweitzer for our seminar in August. I recently decided to clear up my own confusion on land grants. I know that my ancestors received federal land and that Dr. Schweitzer's talk "American Land Grants" is exactly what I need to tap the rich information that lies hidden in the case-entry files at the National Archives. Dr. Schweitzer's lecture "Research in the Southeastern US" will aid all whose ancestors sojourned in the deep south. Dr. Schweitzer literally wrote the book (several of them) on regional research. He is the most highly regarded authority on the subject. The highlight of the day may well be Dr. Schweitzer's "Finding Your Ancestors' Parents". This discussion will detail specific techniques that will help us find the next generation in our most difficult lines. I am looking forward to that one, too!

The Ark-La-Tex Genealogical Association will hold an open house at the Sheraton Shreveport on Friday evening, August 7, from 7 PM to 9 PM (the night before the seminar). There is no charge for this open house. Everyone is welcome whether they attend the seminar or not. The book sellers will be set up. We'll get a head start on browsing. Dr. Schweitzer said that he may be able to attend the open house, so we may get to visit very informally with him, as well. Y'all come!

There is still time to sign up for the group trip to Salt Lake City that is scheduled for November. Deposits are due by August 1, at the very latest. Call Chris Stoll at I Love Travel (747-4770) for information. If you are going to Salt Lake City with us, be sure to catch our regular meeting in September. Vernon Lawrence will speak on "Preparing for a Trip to the Family History Center in Salt Lake City" at that time.

There is even more to talk about. For our October meeting, Willie Griffin will discuss "How to Record an Oral History". This talk on interviewing techniques is well timed to prepare us for holiday family gatherings. Lovers of family history in the region should sign Allan Barlow's petition to The (Shreveport) Times requesting that the newspaper restore the "Ancestor Hunting" column. Copies of the petition are available at the Shreve Memorial Library downtown, at the seminar in August, and at our regular meetings.

ELIZABETH CAVES ALLEN

by Chester McMillan

This article was submitted by Mrs. Fred Coday, Jr., and written by Fred Coday's Uncle, Chester McMillan. His article "Along the Old Sabine River" appeared in the 1st quarter of the GENIE in 1993. He lives at 8510 Linda Ln., Little Rock, AR 72207. We thank Mr. McMillan for this interesting article. Ed)

During the Civil War Elizabeth Caves Allen's husband, Jehu Max Allen, was serving in the Confederate Army. She was left on the farm in Winn Parish, Louisiana with two small children. The women, children and older men were often given little or no protection by the local authorities. In fact, the local authorities were often corrupt. Elizabeth had a fine rifle and a reputation that she could bring down a flying hawk 100 yards away.

One day a group of men, possibly the homeguard, came to her home to seize her horse. She met the men with her rifle in her hands and told them that: "You got enough men to take my horse, but it will be over my dead body-but you will be dead before I am." The officer in charge looked straight down the rifle barrel, steadily held by Elizabeth, and said, "Men, we had better go away". They never returned.

Later, Elizabeth, with her two small children and her rifle, rode her horse to visit her husband, Max, while he was serving in the Confederate Army at Grand Ecore, about 35 miles west of Winnfield. While Elizabeth and the children were there, the army provided Max a tent for his family. While at Grand Ecore, Elizabeth took care of wounded soldiers.

At one time, Max Allen was stationed temporarily at Mellville on the Atchafalaya River while serving in the Confederate Army. Elizabeth again rode on her horse with her two children, and her rifle traveled to Nellville to visit with him, a distance of over 150 miles. She camped out along the way or stayed over night with some families. At that time the country was sparsely populated. There were Union troops and Southern renegades, both in the army and out, who would do most anything. She would have been able to carry a very limited amount of food and clothing, riding a horse with her two children and her rifle. She could only follow dim trails and wagon roads. One one occasion, she became lost in a swamp and was overtaken by darkness and had to camp out in the swamp. When camping out, she was exposed to bears, panthers, wildcats, wolves, snakes and insects. At daybreak she heard roosters crowing and found a house. There she got her bearings and went on her way.

The Civil War had taken away the "flower" of the parish's manpower. Mostly, all that were left in the parish were old men, women and children. In 1862, a Captain Howard (Dog) Smith, who claimed to be a captain in the Confederate Cavalry unit, who with about a score of horsemen, two bloodhounds and a pack of Catahoula hog dogs, rode into Winnfield. He announced that he was the ONLY LAW in Winn Parish, replacing the sheriff and other civil officers. Until he left Winn Parish, they were responsible for a reign of terror. They committed their most inhuman and fiendish acts. Besides killing many of these people outright, robbing all of any valuable possessions, burning homes, wantonly killing their livestock and torturing many victims, they brought "hell" to Winn Parish. They went to a home where an 8 year old boy went up a tree to get away from their dogs. They shot the boy out of the tree, like a hunter would shoot a possum out of a persimmon tree. They picked up the body of the dead boy, rode back to the boy's home and pitched the body over the fence into the yard. They went to another man's home and became upset because the man was not home. They set their pack of catahoula dogs on the man's two young sons and the dogs tore the boys to pieces.

Elizabeth Caves Allen's parents were married on February 18, 1835 in Amite County, Mississippi, and made their home in Franklin County, just east of Natchez. Her parents were William Caves, born April 11, 1818, in Mississippi, and Elizabeth Wright Caves, born April 11, 1818 in Mississippi. There had

There had been several years of a very severe panic and depression due to a drop in the price of cotton. In 1842, the family left Mississippi to to to Texas. At that time, many people were going to Texas. In those days, there were no roads or bridges. They often followed Indian trails or trails marked by blazing trees. Along the trails there was no law or protection. Outlaws took advantage of the situation. A few hostile Indians were in the area. It is reported that in 1845, 1000 wagons crossed into Texas on one trace in a six week period.

In 1842, Elizabeth Caves Allen was six years of age and had two younger sisters and a younger brother. The family of six persons traveled with all their possessions in a one horse wagon. They would have crossed the Mississippi River at Natchez, and would have followed the Natchez Trace to the area that is now Winn Parish, Louisiana. The Natchez Trace was along the present route of U. S. 84. For some reason, the Caves decided to stay and make their home in what is now Winn Parish. They stopped under a big tree and unloaded their children and all their worldly possessions. They had to build a house—most likely near a fresh water spring. They would have had no lumber. The floor would have been dirt and the house built of logs with shingles of split pine. The chimney would have been made of mud. It is believed that they lived east of where the Old Union Baptist Church is now located, near Joyce. To clear the land of big trees for farming, many people deadened the trees by chopping the bark off around the trunk of the tree. The tree would then die, dropping its needles or leaves, let in sunlight and eventually decay. For some period of time the family would have been forced to live off the land for food and other necessities.

In 1842, the area now Winn Parish, was a vast virgin forest of longleaf pines. The virgin pine forests of Winn Parish were a thing of beauty. The trees were so large that it would have taken two or three people to reach around them. There was little or no undergrowth and a wagon could have and did drive among them. Under these pines were "Piney Woods Violets", so long and pretty—and such a temptation to little girls. The trees had no limbs below 40 to 50 feet. The solid canopy of the trees prevented most direct sunlight from reaching the ground level. The ground was covered with a thick layer of pine straw or leaves. The streams were clear and beautiful. The water was so clear a person could see fish, minnows, topwaters, darters, tadpoles and water bugs. Damsel flies and Dragon flies seemed to be everywhere along the streams. A person coming to such a stream could drink the cool clear water. Many of the small streams were known as spring branches as they were fed by a steady flow of water from numerous springs.

Elizabeth and Jehu Max were married in or around 1854. No record has been found as the Winn Parish records were destroyed by fire in 1886. Jehu Max Allen was born November 5, 1829 in Mississippi. His family arrived in Winn Parish around 1839. They were headed for Texas, but were stalled in Winn Parish by a big flood on the Dugdemona Bayou. Before the flood subsided, the Allen's had picked a homesite north of what is now Joyce, and gave up going to Texas. The Allens and Caves were neighbors. Elizabeth and Jehu Max are reported to have been charter members of the Old Union Baptist Church.

Jehu Max died October 10, 1880, and was buried in the Old Union Cemetery. Some people believe he was the first person to be buried in the that Cemetery. Elizabeth died May 9, 1900, and was also buried in the Old Union Baptist Church Cemetery. Her tombstone reads, "Mrs. E. J. Wife of J. M. Allen born Jan. 15, 1836, died May 9, 1900.

The children of Elizabeth and Jehu Max Allen are:

1. Pernissa A. Allen born February 12, 1855.
2. Arenia or Irene Allen born in May 1856.
3. Christopher Columbus Allen born September 22, 1857.
4. Jeff Davis Allen born September 1861.
5. Jehu Wiley Allen born January 9, 1863.
6. Charles Thomas Allen born January 3, 1866.
7. William Wriley Allen born June 1869.
8. Laurecia Almarinda Allen born 1873.
9. Rosa Belle Calista Allen born October 1878.

Elizabeth Caves Allen's parents after living in Winn Parish from 1842 to 1869, moved to Cass County, Texas, which is located between Texarkana and Marshall. At that time they had 15 children, 4 born in Mississippi and 11 born in Louisiana. They lived on a farm. The Caves Spring Church and Cemetery now stands on 10 acres of the farm given in memory of William and Elizabeth Caves. William died October 24, 1881, at nearly seventy years of age.

Elizabeth, his wife, attended the funeral, walked back home and went to bed. She said she had nothing more to live for, so eight days later on November 2, 1881, she was buried by the grave of William. Their bodies occupy the first two graves made in the Caves Spring Cemetery. The graves of William and Elizabeth are marked by a large native rock with their names and dates cut into it. This was placed there by C. S. Johnson, a grandson and a helper.

The children of William and Elizabeth are:

1. Elizabeth Jane Caves born January 15, 1836.
2. Nancy Emaline Caves born December 24, 1837.
3. William John Wright Caves born November 13, 1839.
4. Martha Ann Menerva Caves born February 24, 1841.
5. Rhoda Calistia Caves born August 15, 1842.
6. Mathenia Adaline Caves born September 2, 1844.
7. Thomas Meridith Caves born November 20, 1845.
8. Mary Alifara Caves born February 17, 1847.
9. Wade Holland Caves born September 9, 1848.
10. James McGinty Caves born April 18, 1850.
11. Norman Sylvester Caves born August 12, 1851.
12. Arzelia Edna Caves born February 24, 1856.
13. Samuel Ashbury Caves born August 13, 1857.
14. Sarah Arrena Caves born August 17, 1858.
15. Isabell Evaline Caves born July 10, 1861.

John Caves, born about 1790 in South Carolina, and his wife, also born about 1790 in South Carolina are the parents of William Caves. William Wright was the father of Elizabeth Wright Caves.

Passports were issued by the governors of the State of Georgia from 1810 to 1820 for people to travel through the Creek Nations of Indians. On December 3, 1810, an application for passports was made for Mr. John Cave, with wife, six children and one negro from Barnwell District, South Carolina. On the same date, an application for a passport was made for William Wright, his wife and three children from the County of Lincoln, Georgia. John Cave and William Wright, with their families, apparently traveled together in going to Franklin County, Mississippi. The Franklin County Mississippi Census for 1820 reflected that they were neighbors in Franklin County. William Wright, in application for passport, listed that he was from Lincoln County, Georgia, which is located upstream of the Savannah River from Barnwell County, South Carolina.

The old Caves home place is now inside the Savannah River Plant-Atomic Energy Commission property-what used to be Dumbarton, a village is completely town down. According to maps, the Savannah River Plant included almost all of Barnwell County. In the War of 1812, John Caves served in Col. Claiborne's Regiment, Mississippi Militia as a Private from September 19, 1812 to March 19, 1813. John Caves was a son of John Caves, Sr., born about 1743 in Orange County, Virginia and died at Barnwell District on August 12, 1808. His wife, Sarah Wilson Brown, born about 1753 in Virginia, died in Barnwell about 1831. John Caves, Sr., was a son of David Caves born about 1690, in King and Queen County, Virginia, and died about 1756. His wife was Sara. David Caves was a son of Robert Caves, whose wife was Elizabeth. He died about 1735. John Caves, Sr., served as a Partisan Ranger with Captain William Harden's Company in and around what is now Barnwell County, during the Revolutionary War. He also served under Captain Tarlton Brown. These Partisan Rangers rendered services in emergencies, but separated when the need was met, to be summoned again when a new need arose. There is a revolutionary marker for John Cave, along with others in Barnwell County, who served on the road from Barnwell to Boiling Springs, South Carolina. These were placed there by the Captain Robert Barnwell Chapter, D. A. R.

A John Cave is mentioned in the records of the Jamestown, Virginia colony. The ancestors of Elizabeth Caves All could have been here as early as the settlement of Jamestown. It is said that Jordan de Cave was the founder of the Cave Family, and that he came to England from Normandy with William the Conqueror in 1066 A.D. The name comes from the Yorkshire villages of North and South Cave, where lands were given to Jordan by his brother, Wyamarus, standard-bearer to the Conqueror.

Chester McMillan of Little, Arkansas is the husband of Annie Virginia McMillan, a daughter of Mathew Max (Bud) Allen. Bud Allen and his sister Marybelle Allen Cox, had recorded the information about Elizabeth Caves Allen. Christopher Columbus Allen was a son of Elizabeth Caves Allen, and was the father of Bud Allen and Marybelle Allen Cox.

My great-grandparents, Martinus HANSEN and Anna Christina HANSON-HANSEN and their child, Arnt (Arthur) M. HANSEN came from Norway to New Orleans, LA. They were Baptists. Martinus was a steamboat and steam tugboat engineer during his time in San Francisco (1883-1893). He died there of a stroke. During his time in New Orleans, Anna gave birth to three or four children, but it is said they died of an influenza plague, only Arnt survived. Martinus applied for naturalization in New Orleans on 26 Oct 1876. Would like to correspond with anyone having information on this family.

STILL SEARCHING FOR CALVIN (VANCE)

By Dale Jennings

(This is the second segment of a series on "Searching for Calvin")

I was nearly as confident as I sounded when a few years ago I assured my wife, Larri, that I would solve the mystery about her great grandfather. William Calvin Vance was not missing. He had been given his final rest in Shreveport's Forest Park Cemetery some sixty years before. It was his ancestry which had been hidden, either by neglect or design, and Larri wanted me to find it. Calvin had married his cousin, Nina Vance. His identity should have been revealed amid the ample information available on Nina's side of the Vance family, but Cal was not to be found among Nina's first cousins--and the circumstances of his birth had not been preserved.

Captain W. C. Vance surrendered his company (Greenwood's "Secession Guards") in the surrender of General Joe Johnston's army to General Sherman, effectively ending the Civil War. This took place near Durham, North Carolina, on April 26, 1865, and on May 2nd Calvin was paroled and went "home" to Greenwood. Anyway, his presence in Greenwood, South Carolina, is documented by his witnessing Allen Vance's will there on July 29th. If not Allen's nephew, Cal was by all accounts a cousin to his children, John, Mollie--and Nina. Allen was unable to travel to Bentonville, North Carolina, to recover his son's body. John had been reported mortally wounded and left on the field while fighting with Calvin's company in the last great battle of the war, the Battle of Bentonville (March 19-21). He sent an old servant with a wagon and coffin to bring back the remains. When John finally hobbled in, after the surrender, even his mother didn't recognize him until he yelled, "Get back from me Ma! I'm full of body lice!" John was nursed back to health, and Allen died September 18th in the assurance that his only son was home again, and safe.

Allen and his younger, bachelor brother, Doctor James Washington Vance, were close fraternally, if not geographically. They also had a common interest in Calvin's welfare. "Wash" Vance had migrated to northwest Louisiana in 1840, the year that Calvin was born. Allen had not followed, but in 1850 did buy a plantation adjacent to his brother's, across the Red River from and above Shreveport, in Bossier Parish (county). Allen regretted in his will that he could not see his brother, Wash, one more time, appointing him and John as the executors to carry out his last wishes. It was his desire that his wife, Mary Matilda, have the South Carolina property. The Louisiana plantation was to remain intact until Nina turned eighteen, then sold and the proceeds equally divided among the three children. Calvin was not mentioned in the will, although he seemed to have been under Allen's care while growing up in Greenwood. Northwest Louisiana had escaped the ravages of war suffered by the states of the Old South. The plantation remained viable, and a great accumulation of cotton, the disposition of which was prominent in Allen's will, was made marketable by the lifting of the federal embargo.

John came here in late 1865, with intent beyond just administering his father's estate. In December, he made a "Declaration of Domicil" in parish court, declaring his intent to be a citizen of Bossier, to the exclusion of any other parish or state. It would have been necessary that someone trusted watch over the Carolina property, John's widowed mother, and his sisters. Certainly, Cal would have done that. In early 1867, Calvin also appeared in Bossier Parish, joining into a mercantile partnership with two other ex-Confederate captains, John Nattin and Nathan Sentell. There is reason to believe that Cal was helped in this venture by an old friend of the Sentell's, Doctor J. Wash Vance. He also purchased 480 acres of land jointly with Nathan that Spring, and later married Louise M. Doles, sister of Nathan's wife, Mary. The parish tax records for 1867 indicate that Calvin was assessed only a tax of $1.25, on an "amount of money loaned on interest--$500.00."

Doctor James Washington Vance died in October, 1868, at the Buck Hall Plantation home of his nephew, Doctor Samuel Whitfield Vance. "Whitfield" petitioned the court for probate of the will, stating that he had reason to believe that he was the sole, or one of the executors appointed in the will. He asserted that he, his brother, Doctor Rosborough Washington Vance, John Chappell Vance and William Calvin Vance were the only presumptive heirs living in the parish. Judge L. W. Baker deemed that Joseph P. Vance and Doctor Thomas J. Vance, sons of a first cousin, should also be notified of the opening of the will. (Was that because they were as closely akin to the deceased as was Calvin?) Doctor Vance's instruction as to burial and payment of his just debts was followed by two special legacies:

"Item 2d: To William Calvin Vance, now of the Parish of Bossier, State of Louisiana, and at this time a member of the commercial firm of N. W. Sentell and Co., doing business at Collinsburg, in said Parish and State, I will and bequeath, in addition to means and money I have heretofore furnished and advanced him, the sum of twenty thousand dollars in gold to him and his heirs forever."

"Item 3d: To Harriet R. Montgomery, commonly called Hattie Montgomery, of Laurens District in the State of South Carolina, I will and bequeath the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars in gold to her and her heirs forever." (Could this have been the same "Hattie" in Calvin's 1864 letter written from the Shenandoah Valley to his cousin?)

Doctor Vance willed that the remainder of his estate be divided equally among his legal heirs. He named as co-executors of his will, William Calvin Vance and George Washington Sentell.

In December, 1869, Doctor J. W. Vance's estate, comprising more than 4,000 acres, and including his 1,584-acre Riverside Plantation, was auctioned off at sheriff's succession sale. Calvin bought the Riverside Plantation which included 202 acres across the river in Caddo Parish, for $31,180. With Doctor Vance's death, John Vance became sole executor and administrator of his father's estate. He continued to manage the Allen Vance plantation, which he named "Palmetto" after his native "Palmetto State."

By the time of the 1870 census, Calvin too was a planter. Living in the household of 30-year-old W. C. Vance was his new bride, Lou M. Vance, age 21, as well as Mary Vance, 50, and Nannie Vance, 10, both born in South Carolina. They are not to be confused with M. M. Vance, age 55, and Ninnie Vance, 17, who had moved to Louisiana that year, and were living nearby with 26-year-old J. C. Vance. The relationship of "Mary" and "Nannie" to head of household was neither required that decade, nor volunteered. These guests cannot be linked to Nina's side of the family, and have not been identified in any subsequent census—probably omitted or obscured by death or marriage.

Calvin's young wife, Lou Doles Vance, died in January, 1871, but not before giving birth to a son, Allen Washington Vance. Shortly after his first birthday, little Allen would acquire a new mother, the culmination of a chain of events which began in October, 1871. That month, Mary M. Vance legally renounced any claim she might have had on the Louisiana property. In November, she and John were appointed natural tutor and under tutor to John's minor sister, Laura C. (Nina) Vance. The next month, on December 12th, Calvin purchased the Allen Vance estate at sheriff's succession sale. He paid $12,590 cash for the 1,595-acre Palmetto Plantation and over $6,000 for the livestock and moveable property. John Vance was then married to Helen Pratt of Minden, Louisiana, on January 31, 1872. Calvin married his cousin, Nina Vance, the next day, February 1, 1872. (Although both marriages were recorded in Bossier Parish, John's marriage probably occurred in Minden, which would only later become the parish seat of the new parish of Webster.)

Palmetto was John's plantation. He lived on, worked the land and raised his family there. The plantation house was located on the present site of the clubhouse facilities of Palmetto Country Club, on Palmetto Road, south of Benton. Calvin resided on his adjoining Riverside Plantation. John purchased 900 acres of Palmetto in 1878, but Cal bought the 900 acres back from his cousin (and brother-in-law) in 1886. John Chappell Vance was a public man. He was elected to the Louisiana House of Representatives in 1878, then the State Senate, and was later appointed Surveyor (chief customs officer) of the Port of New Orleans. Although public life kept him and his family extensively in New Orleans (then the state capitol), Palmetto continued to be known as John's plantation, and he paid the taxes on the full 1,596 acres until it left Vance ownership. (Larri's mother had always understood that Palmetto was her great uncle John's plantation.) This may seem peculiar, but there is a plausible explanation, stated here as reasonable assumption, rather than fact. The family faced a dilemma in settling Allen's estate within the dictates of the will, while being desirous of retaining ownership. That would require some creative financing not reflected in the records at the court house in Bellevue. Mollie's one-third share may have been paid by Calvin. John would informally retain his one-third interest by family agreement, and Nina's third would be vested in her marriage to Calvin. Thus, when John bought the 900 acres in 1878, he was actually buying out the other two-thirds interest. (900 acres would not represent two-thirds of the total by acreage, but in value.) Conveyance records show that John paid Calvin $10,000 for the 900-acre tract in 1878, but was paid only $7,500 in the buy back in 1886. The $2,500 difference may have represented a lien in that amount which had to be paid off to clear the title for transfer. John's descendants hold the family tradition that he was not notably successful as a planter, and lost the plantation. If the earlier premise is correct, then he did not lose Palmetto in its entirety. When Palmetto Plantation was later sold by Calvin, it was necessary that John in New Orleans sign a notarized release. He did not disavow an interest in the property, but approved of the sale by W. C. Vance, and stated: "I acknowledge to have received full settlement of all matters between himself and myself." It was not too long afterward that John bought a tract of land at Alexandria, Louisiana, for more than six thousand dollars.

The preceding is illustrative of the trust and binding relationship which would continue between Calvin and his cousins. John named his first daughter Nina and his first son John Cal.

IT AIN'T NECESSARILY SO

(Contributed by ALTGA member Dale Jennings)

Despite our best efforts at obtaining reliable information in genealogical research, instances of human error or other oddity affirms the desirability for verification by independent source. An obituary notice in the February 16, 1884 Shreveport Times is a good, although not typical, case in point:

DIED

Vance -- At Buckhall plantation, Bossier Parish, of hereditary heart disease, on Monday, the 11th inst. Miss Mollie Vance, Aged 20 years, the only daughter of the late Dr. S. W. Vance and Mrs. S. E. Vance.

We extend our deepest and most heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved mother and relatives of the deceased.

The matter was cleared up for the contemporary populace by the Times the following day, but researchers more than a century later might be misled without the benefit of the February 17th edition:

A SENSELESS JEST.--Our notice in yesterday morning's issue of the death of Miss Mollie Vance was prompted by the receipt of a notice by mail of the demise of Miss Vance and the funeral notice was the substance of the card received. The notice was on a slip of commercial note paper, written in a delicate female style of chirography and addressed to the Editor of the Times. We received the communication in good faith and published it, thinking it reliable. We have been imposed upon but are sincerely and heartily glad to discover that our announcement of Miss Vance's death was a mistake. She is alive and well, and in the enjoyment of good health. The perpetrator of the joke we trust has fully reaped the reward of his, or her smartness, and will doubtless feel much pleasure in the pangs excited in the breasts of anxious relatives and friends. We shall be pleased at any time to record the demise of the too previous perpetrator of so heartless and senseless a jest.

Mary Boutwell Gilmer (Mollie) Vance lived for another fifty years after the publication of her first obituary notice. Mollie was married to Mr. James Conway Logan in 1893 and would leave many descendants. She died at her Cash Point plantation home, about a mile from her Buckhall birthplace, on October 5, 1934.

PRINGLE-SMITH AHNENTAFEL

This wonderful Ahnentafel Chart was contributed by Mrs. Inez Pringle, who has been a member of ALTGA for many years. She is a member of Pelican Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution filing on her ancestor, Richard Allbritton. Her husband, Vernon Pringle, is a member of Galvez Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, and has filed on his ancestor, Ezra Day. They are both descendants of the Magna Carta Sureties. Mrs. Pringle back to Gilbert de Clare and Richard de Clare, Earl of Hertford. Her descent from these men is marked by one *. Mr. Pringle's descent is marked by two **. We start this chart with their great-granddaughter, Amanda Nicole Pringle, as she is the first generation of this family. She will soon be joined by a brother or sister.

HISTORY OF EVERGREEN SCHOOL

(This article was submitted by Sherry Gritzbaugh, 4507 Verone, Bellaire, TX 77401-5513.)

John Edmon Thomas sawed lumber for the walls of the first church and school at Evergreen, Union Parish, Louisiana, before his death in December 1898. The building was on a rock foundation, the side had two windows. This one room building was a dirt floor. Planks were placed on blocks sawed from trees. This is where the children of Evergreen Community studied. On Sunday meeting days, it was Evergreen Baptist Church. On Saturday meeting days, it was an Assembly of God Church. The building has also been described as being thirty by thirty-six feet, with a pulpit, two doors and three long plank benches on each side. In those days, men and boys would sit on one side, while the ladies and their daughters would sit on the other. There was a horse block for the women who rode on horseback to dismount. Family groups would come to church in wagons drawn by horses. Often dinner would be held on the ground. Sometimes they would meet and sing.

HOUSE AND PICTURE OF SPIRIT

(As told by Cecil Gresham Lowery to her niece, Sherry Gresham Gritzbaugh.)

Cecil Gresham Lowery and her family had such unexplainable noises in their family home, located in the Evergreen Community of Bernice, Louisiana. Cecil, who lived in the house most of her life, before she married John Lowery, says she experienced many strange sounds and occurrences throughout the years, but it wasn't until she was grown that she learned of the history of her childhood home. The house had been owned and built by her husband's grandfather, William "Bill" Ray, in the late 1800's or early 1900's. Many people had died in this home, including Cecil's Uncle Ben Feazel, her parents, and a brother, who died young. Uncle Ben always said he was going to return to the house if he ever died. He had purchased the home from William Ray. At his death, the home was left to his sister, Rebecca Belmira Feazel Gresham, and her children.

Ben Feazel's presence was constantly felt, not only by the family, but by some visitors in the home. Cecil Lowery explained that they would sometimes think someone was behind them, but would quickly turn around to find an empty room.

When Ben Gresham died, a brother of Cecil and Cortez "Jake" Gresham, another spirit paid a visit. The morning of November 1st, 1977, Uncle Jake woke his wife up, telling her to put on a pot of coffee. He said "Ben just came by. He died this morning and waved at me, walked away, toward the direction of the Evergreen Baptist Church and Cemetery". His wife, Margaret verified his story.

Ben had died that morning in Jackson, Mississippi, and was buried in the Evergreen Cemetery next to his parents. This was also the burial place of Rebecca Belmira Feazel, her husband, M. Allen Gresham, Ben Feazel and Mr. & Mrs. William Ray, who had all died in the home.

Cortez "Jake", who lived in the house, gave Aunt Cecil the picture of Uncle Ben, as it would often come tumbling down from the once high ceilings of the old home. She got a chilling feeling one day when her niece Sherry was visiting. It seems they were having a conversation about Uncle Ben's father, when his picture came tumbling down off her wall. That day she gave the picture to her niece.

I am that niece and was so happy to have the picture it was immediately given a place of honor in my home in Bellaire, Texas. Sometimes I get a warm feeling as I pass by the picture and say "Hi, Uncle Ben". I think he may be smiling at me. He seems to like it here as he has only fallen from my wall once.

Unfortunately, the old home place burned. Another house stands on the old homesite. New residents live on the land. I often get the urge to stop and walk on the sacred soil one more time. I think the spirit or spirits were the soul or souls of those dear departed, who just wanted to watch over the Gresham children.

I think my Dad really did say good-bye to Aunt Margaret and Uncle Jake. He left proof. As a child Rebecca Belmira's husband, M. Allen Gresham, had grown apple trees on the land. After Ben died, one of the seeds from long, long ago sprouted on the third day of March in 1978. The sprout died on November 1st. I find it curious that it sprouted on my Dad's birthday and died on his death date. Is it possible that he was letting the family know that "Guardian Angels Were Watching Over Them". I have always felt Uncle Ben was my guardian angel and watched over my family.

There are days when I feel the presence of my Aunt Cecil Gresham Lowery watching over me as I work on the family tree. It is a warm feeling and I like it very much. Now I have three guardian angels watching over me... My Dad, Uncle Ben and Aunt Cecil. You will have to agree, that I am very lucky to have them guiding me.

BOSSIER PARISH POLICE JURY
BENTON, LOUISIANA

April 8, 1998

(Chris Stoll, ALTGA 1st Vice President, spotted these jury minutes in the Bossier Press Tribune. They were in such small print your editor had to get a magnifying glass to read them, but thought this excerpt very interesting.)

"Sheriff Larry Dean and Mr. Clifton Cardin, Bossier Parish Historian, discussed regulations which prohibit prisoner work crews from cleaning up rural cemeteries located on private property. Mr. Cardin presented a list of abandoned cemeteries in Bossier Parish which have historical value, and requested that these cemeteries be declared as historical sites. Mr. Cardin stated that he feels if these cemeteries are not maintained, they could become non-existent and valuable historical dates will be lost. Motion was made by Mr. Scarborough, seconded by Mr. Avery, to declare 73 rural cemeteries in Bossier Parish as historical sites.

There was discussion on the motion. Dr. Shell asked if prisoner work crews will now begin maintenance on these cemeteries. Mr. Cardin stated that some are located on private property and Dr. Shell stated that it should be clarified that the Bossier Parish Sheriff's Department will obtain the permission of the landowner before any work is done. Sheriff Dean assured jurors that the Sheriff's Department will obtain the permission of the landowner. Mr. Bullers, District Attorney, stated that an exception to State law allows a public entity to maintain a cemetery located on private property if that cemetery has been officially declared as historical. Sheriff Dean stated that prisoner crews do no mowing, only general cleaning and fence repair if needed and that the Sheriff's Department will assume all liability. Votes were cast on Mr. Scarborough's motion to declare 73 cemeteries in Bossier Parish as historical sites, thereby allowing prisoner work crews to provide maintenance on these cemeteries. Motion carried unanimously.

FROM WOLSTENHOLM, VIRGINIA

(More from our member, Merrill C. Williams, 23750 Highland Valley Rd., Diamond Bar, CA 91765-1184)

For those who can't visit and want to "see" Wolstenholm Towne, there are color paintings, pictures with this story in the June 1979 issue of the National Geographic Magazine. Done by Richard Schlector, they show the "Town" before and after the 1622 Indian attack. For those who fail to find a copy of the magazine, Ivor Noel Hume has placed copies in the enders of his book, Martin's Hundred."

To dispel the impression of peace and light being conveyed in colonial America, the fact is that in the seventeenth century, the penalty for denouncing those in "favour" was mean-putting citizens in public stocks with their ears nailed to a board. Another punishment provided entertainment to and containment of the populace. Following the English "tradition" of punishment, the mere threat or knowledge of the penalty for high treason made the following sequence quite rare: Drawn on an oxhide to the place of execution, then hanged and let down alive to see his entrails burned before his eyes. Next his head was cut off and his body was quartered. Afterwards these five pieces were displayed in selected public places. In England, this practice was revived in the eighteenth century to dispose of the leaders of the Jacobians.

This was the century of the development of Virginia's single crop "tobacco" economy, despite ever-expanding acreage and increasing slavery. Over-building, gambling and fire kept many wealthy colonials on the brink of bankruptcy. Such a precarious economic existence did not keep many "successful" landholders from reaching high social and political positions. Many small farmers and middle class citizens became dependant on a "company store" credit economy. It was mostly paid for by "tobacco" harvests, the only cash crop.

Expanding families and continuing waves of immigrants from Europe into the crown colonies caused an overflow. These people became the new pioneers, migrating to less populated parts of states and into the territories. Often it was the landowning citizens who sold their now worn and less productive land, heading through the passes west or south and later westerly as shortly after the turn of the nineteenth century many territories were on the verge of becoming states. Wending their way to the "old southwest" were our Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana First Families.

FROM THE SHORT-LIVED YEARS ALONG THE JAMESTOWN RIVER

(Merrill C. Williams, ALTGA member, 23750 Highland Valley Rd., Diamond Bar, CA 91765-1184, traces his family back to Jamestown, VA and submitted this article.)

On the dust jacket of MARTIN'S HUNDRED by Ivor Hume, Gerald Terboch's "Cavalier in the Saddle" pictures a Virginia Cavalier riding away. He epitomizes our first "American" ancestor. A survivor of the hard winters, the "starving time" and the expansion of early James Cittie into Newtown and the "Hundreds" parish-like settlements. The letter sent their delegates to the Jamestown House of Burgesses' First Legislative Assembly in 1619. The seat of Virginia's government remained there until the end of the Seventeenth Century.

It is ironic that, in 1622, Governor Francis Wyallo-who was a survivor behind the palisaded triangle of the fort at Jamestown-declared that the partial massacre of the colonists along the James River should be remembered and celebrated annually as the "Great Preservation".

We would be shirking our duty to history unless we weave the soon to be four centuries of American experience into a memorable tapestry. In our corner of this grand design is the man from Smyth's Hundred, later known as Southhampton Hundred, Captain Thomas Graves, who may have experienced the "Great Preservation" along the banks of the James River-or may have sailed for England on one of his many trips made while he was an Ancient Planter. It is of note that he was established on the "Eastern Shore" before he brought his wife and children from England. Although palisade construction was soon to make other Jamestown Plantations secure, he was developing, by 1623, his two hundred acre patent granted by the Virginia Company on the peninsula east of Chesapeake Bay and south of future Maryland.

Projections from the nineteen seventies archeological excavations at Martin's Hundred and Wolstenholm tell much of how the life of the new colony progressed, as under Commander Graves how his fifty people prospered on the Plantation of the Acchawmacke. In the year of 1635, they established their Episcopal Church alongside its namesake, Hungars Creek. This, and other plantations, joining with Martin's Hundred "sired" the economy that would dominate the South through more than 250 years of American History."

Despite the revocation of the Charter of the Virginia Company of London, by 1624, community roots were planted and families were expanding that were soon to spread through the eastern counties of the Crown Colony of Virginia.

Sweeping away "the gone with the julep culture" surrounding the Civil War, the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries blend to show our path out of the past. From the societies along the James River came the people who began the plantations, family farms and cities that followed.

The word ye, in such expressions as "Ye Olde Shoppe," is pronounced like the word the. The letter y in Anglo Saxon indicated the same th sound as apparent in the current spelling.

BOOK REVIEWS

by Herman Weiland

(Donated to Shreve Memorial Library by the REES/RACE Family Association.)

TITLE: THE REES/RACE FAMILY IN AMERICA, Descendants of Andries (RACE) REES and Celitje JANS 1630-1997, compiled by William Benton RACE and John Race POWERS.

ORDER FROM: TRRFA & John RACE POWERS, 11860 E. West Wind Dr., Scottsdale, AZ 85255-5903

COST: $25.00 ppd, includes one year membership in the family association.

REES or RACE is comparatively rare as a surname in America. There are many variations in the spelling. Andries REES and Celitje JANS were the progenitors of this family in America. They arrived in New Amsterdam (New York) before 1650. He was a soldier with the Dutch West India Company. The family migrated up the Hudson River into other parts of New York State, and on into Massachusetts. Many records of the family are found in the minutes of the Dutch Reformed Church. This edition of the book is a compilation of several years research. There are some 1367+ descendants of this family known. The association is always looking for new and additional information. If you are connected to this family, you will want to furnish your families information so that it can be included in any future update of the book. I find this book an excellent source for this family, it is well documented with an added "Historical" section for many of the family members in addition to the pure genealogical information. 1997, 8½ x 11, 134 pp, bibliography, index, softbound.

(Donated to Shreve Memorial Library by Myrtle N. BRIDGES)

TITLE: OUR NATIVE HEATH, Richmond County, North Carolina 1779-1899 by Myrtle N. BRIDGES.

ORDER FROM: Myrtle N. BRIDGES, 4093 NC 55 W, Angier, NC 27501.

COST: $40.00 ppd. North Carolina residents add $2.16 tax.

Richmond County was established in 1779 and lies on the southern border of North Carolina. The Pee Dee River forms its western border and South Carolina its southern border. The county seat is Rockingham.

If you hit a snag in your Richmond County research, this may be just the book for you. While Mrs. BRIDGES was searching for her own family in the State Archives at Raleigh, she discovered many documents pertaining to other Richmond County residents. This is exciting new material that will make public many previously unpublished records to assist the genealogist. The 12-Chapter book covers Land Records, Tax Lists, School Records, Marriage Records,

Census, Wills, Death Notices, Testators, Marks Creek Church, Cemeteries and Emigrant Lists to Richmond County. There is also a section with the actual signatures found on the original documents used to compile this book. There is an 1886 survey map with many of the places and individual names re-thereon at the actual location where they were at that time. Records are arranged in chronological order to aid you in identifying individuals in relation to specific time and place. Copies of some of the original documents are included. This is one of the best books you will find pertaining to Richmond County, and has also many mentions of adjoining counties. You may write Myrtle to receive an order form, which contains the surname listing of the over 9,700 names found in the index. SASE, please. You may also visit her excellent Web Site to obtain this surname listing. <http://home.att.net/~hbridges/myrtle.htm>. 1997, 9 x 6, 416 pp, index, hard-cover.

I'M A SENIOR CITIZEN

(Found in Senior Citizen News, May 1998. Author unknown.)

I'm the life of the party-even when it lasts until 8 p.m.
I'm very good at opening child proof caps with a hammer.
I'm usually interested in going home before I get to where I'm going.
I'm good on a trip for at least an hour without my aspirin, beano, anti-acid.
I'm the first one to find the bathroom wherever I go.
I'm awake many hours before my body allows me to get up.
I'm smiling all the time because I can't hear a word you are saying.
I'm very good at telling stories...over and over and over.
I'm aware that other people's grandchildren are not as bright as mine.
I'm so cared for: long-term care, eye care, private care, dental care.
I'm not grouchy, I just don't like traffic, waiting, crowds, children, politicians.
I'm positive I did housework correctly before my mate retired.
I'm sure everything I can't find is in a secure place.
I'm wrinkled, saggy and lumpy, and that's just my left leg.
I'm having trouble remembering simple words like...
I'm now spending more time with my pillows than with my mate.
I'm realizing that aging is not for sissies.
I'm anti-everything now: anti-fat, anti-nose, anti-inflammatory...
I'm going to reveal what goes on behind closed doors...absolutely nothing.
I'm sure they are making adults much younger these days.
I'm in the initial state of golden years: SS, CD's IRAs, AARP.
I'm wondering...if you're only as old as you feel, how could I be alive at 150?
I'm supporting all movements now...by eating bran, prunes and raisins.
I'm a walking storeroom of facts...I've just lost the storeroom.
I'm a Senior Citizen, and I think I am having the time of my Life!!

WRITING YOUR QUERY

by Sue Marine, Trinity, AL

Correspondence is probably the most important part of our genealogical research. But sometimes it is very hard to locate others researching the same families that we are. Posting queries in genealogical publications, such as this one, is a good way to get in contact with others.

Persons researching in a geographical area usually subscribe to the genealogical publications from that area, so that is the first place you should look for new correspondents. The Internet is also a great place to post queries. Almost all states and most counties now have genealogical bulletin boards and there are thousands and thousands of news groups, web pages, etc.

The way you write your query will probably dictate what response you receive. If you write a short, clear, to-the-point query stating exactly what you need, you stand a much better chance of receiving an answer than if you write a long, rambling, confusing query.

Begin your query by listing only several surnames. Long lists of surnames are not as effective. It is better to use both given name and surname. If you list the name Hill only, many people will just ignore it, because Hill is such a common name. But if you list Henry Hill, you may get the attention of some readers who would pass over the name Hill.

State your problem in a few very specific words. Let the reader know exactly what it is you are looking for. Are you looking for the marriage date and place of Aunt Mary? Or are you wishing correspondence concerning the whole Hill family?

Give a location, including state and county, if known. Also, give a time period. Usually just a year is sufficient. If you do not have a specific year, give an approximate year. Just so the reader knows that you are looking for Henry Hill in 1750 and not in 1850.

Make relationships very clear. Use names, not "he" or "she." Also, it usually makes a query very unclear to the reader when you list all the children and who they married. It is better to write three or four short, clear queries than to try to get all the information from a group sheet into one query.

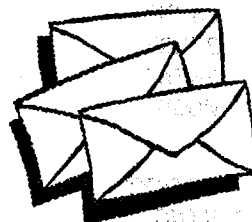

Write or type your query clearly so the person responsible for putting it in the quarterly can read it. Be sure to give your name and address, and it is also good to indicate whether you are a Mr., Miss, or Mrs. Many times it is hard to tell just by looking at the name and that makes for confusion. [Editor's Note: Also include your E-mail address, if you have one.]

Before sending your query be sure you will have time to reply to the answers you receive...even if the answer is not about what you are looking for or even about your family. Please be courteous; send a reply.

If your memory is like mine, you will probably want to enter your queries in your correspondence log so you will have a record of where and when you sent them.

I wish you good luck in your search. I have had very good luck with posting queries and I hope you will too. Remember:

- List a couple of surnames
- State your problem using only vital information.
- Be specific. Do not elaborate.
- Give a specific location and time period.
- Make relationships clear.
- Write neatly. Include your name and address.

THE GENEALOGICAL SIGNIFICANCE OF CATTLE EARMARKS

From an article by Oliver D. Drake in The Genealogical Magazine of New Jersey, Volume 20, January 1945.

One of the least known and most often neglected sources of genealogical data are the early lists of cattle earmarks. The system of marking the ears of cattle and hogs was used in the early days much as cattle brands are employed in the West today—as a registered means of identifying one's farm animals.

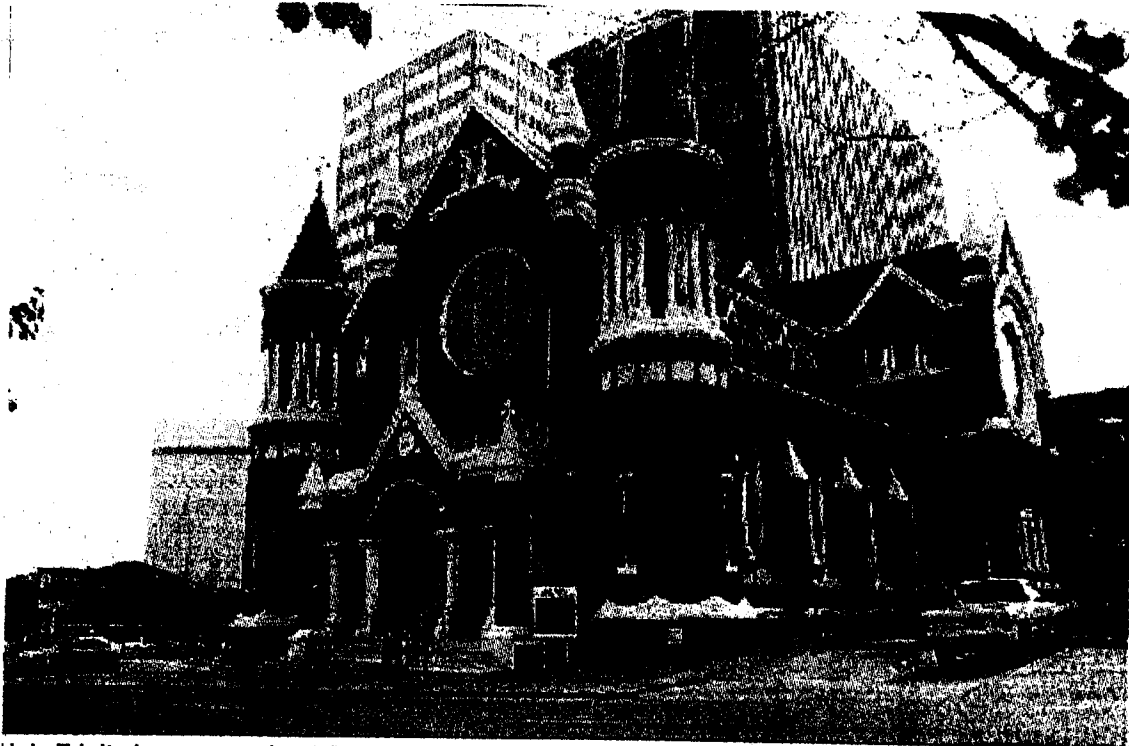

In olden times cattle were marked with various combinations of notches, slits, squares and "half pennies" which were cut in the edge of an animal's ear. Careful descriptions of the marks were recorded in a town book, together with the stock-owner's name and date of registration. Finding the registration of a settler's earmark, therefore, is almost always definite proof of his being located in the community at a stated time.

When an earmark was transferred from one owner to another, or passed down from one generation to the other, the town clerk often made a note to that effect, giving the date of transfer and the names of the old and new owners. Since this occurred only when an original owner died, or, possibly, sold his cattle to someone else, the records become of vital concern to the genealogist.

Doubtless there are a great many of these earmark lists scattered through the colonial communities and are probably in the custody of town clerks, libraries, county clerks, or historical societies and museums. It is the opinion of the writer that these should always be consulted along with deeds, wills, mortgages and court records for genealogical gleanings.

NOTE: While this article refers primarily to early or "colonial" lists, many areas throughout the country continued to keep such records—some in the late 1800's and perhaps later. County clerks would probably know of the existence of earmark lists.
